

THE CANARY ISLANDS OFFERS TRAVEL ASSISTANCE INSURANCE TO ALL TOURISTS TRAVELLING TO THE ISLANDS

The Government of the Canary Islands, through Promotur Turismo de Canarias, signs an agreement with the company AXA Seguros to respond to incidents related to COVID-19, among which is the need to extend stays due to quarantine.

The Canary Islands is the first Spanish Autonomous Community in which tourists will have travel assistance coverage with guarantees of medical expenses, health repatriation and extension of stays due to quarantine related to COVID-19, to comply with an obligatory confinement due to a positive result. All this, as long as it is not known before the trip, as set out in the conditions of the insurance policy.

The protection of tourists, both Spanish (including insular) and foreign, through this insurance is effective and initially be valid for 12 months. Excluded from it, are cases where the circumstances were known before the start of the trip, in accordance with the conditions of the policy.

With the subscription of this policy, the Canary Islands advance even more in their responsibility to consolidate and increase the safety and tranquility of tourists.
